Sitland

Cell is the soft seating system designed to create personalised waiting and informal meeting areas within open plan spaces. The high back version in fact, thanks to its "enveloping" lines allows a special sound – proofing that helps creating a comfortable and private space where you can relax or work comfortably. In addition to the armchairs and to the high back sofas, the seating range cell includes many other different solutions: a two-seater sofa, a low back armchair, a conference chair and the pouf "Freedom". All the cell collection is made with innovative materials that give shape to products comfortable, durable and with a contemporary design.
